For me, living means being in touch with nature, spending my free time outdoors with an amazing weather throughout the year.

I would choose Elements as living among the sea and the mountains is a dream come true. Being able to breathe fresh air and feel alive. Waking up in a place where the sunlight is part of my home.

Having breakfast on the terrace while I read the newspaper, playing golf with friends, spending quality time with my family at our very own social club. For me, that would be real happiness...
